Fraud warning to online shoppers

By CATHERINE PYE

East Lancashire shoppers getting ready for Christmas are being reminded to be even more vigilant when buying presents online.

In the past 12 months, Lancashire Trading Standards has received more than 900 complaints from residents relating to online crimes, the most common fraud being bogus websites and counterfeit goods.

County Coun Albert Atkinson said: "As online shopping becomes more popular, we are reminding consumers to take even more care than ever about shopping online.

"Trading Stadards officers are very concerned about websites selling counterfeit goods, or bogus sites looking to steal people's personal and banking information.

"No-one wants to be ripped off at any time, especially when buying Christmas presents for friends and family. So we're advising people only to purchase from authentic websites, or authorised suppliers, and, for payments of more than £100, to use a credit card as this will afford an extra level of protection."

TAKE CARE: County Coun Albert Atkinson

Public urged to be vigilant buying gifts for Christmas

Tell-tale signs to look out for include:

- Use of poor English
- Web links leading to bogus addresses
- Suspiciously-low prices
- No clear sales information.

People who think they have been a victim of online fraud should report it to Action Fraud on 0300 123 2040.

Alternatively, people can visit www.actionfraud.police.uk

Free bags of grit

Free bags of grit are being made available for Hyndburn residents to help clear paths and roads during the winter.

Coun Munsif Dad said: "Residents have told us they really appreciated the previous offer of free grit bags, so we're going to run it again this winter. We have around 4,000 bags, which will be delivered to residents on a first-come, first-served basis."

To reserve a free bag, phone 01254 388111, e-mail enquiries@hyndburnbc. gov.uk or write to Customer Services, Town Hall, Broadway, Accrington, BB5 1EZ.

Collectors wanted

Marie Curie Cancer Care is seeking volunteers to give up an hour of their time to collect donations for the charity's nursing service from shoppers at Morrisons, in Great Harwood, this Friday, Saturday, or Sunday. Contact its fundraising office on 01254 855040.

Car crime warning

Vehicles parked in Clayton-le-Moors are to be checked by police, and crime prevention advice given to the owners of any found insecure.

Policing matters

Residents in Blackburn town centre can raise any crime issues with police at the next PACT meeting, at the Railway Road station, on Monday, December 17, at 10am.

Visit to East Lancs a top priority for winning candidate

Citizen The news

Lancashire's new Police and Crime Commissioner Clive Grunshaw promised to make visiting the East of the county a top priority minutes after being chosen in an election where less than a sixth of people voted.

He said he had a big task to take on for everyone in the area, despite the disappointing 15.5per cent turnout in Thursday's poll.

Fleetwood county councillor Mr Grunshaw, who will earn £85,000 a year, said: "This is not a desk job. I shall be getting out and about the county, engaging with people.

"I shall be coming to Blackburn, Burnley, Nelson, Rawtenstall, and the rest of East Lancashire soon. My late father, Dave, was born in Blackburn and brought up in Darwen, so I know East Lancashire well."

WINNER: Clive Grunshaw with his deputy Ibrahim Masters

His deputy designate, Blackburn community leader and Labour politician Ibrahim Masters said: "I shall be standing beside him to make sure he lives up to his word and does not forget our area."

Mr Grunshaw won the final vote off by 79,790 votes to Tory Tim Ashton's 73,262, having failed to secure a clear 50per cent majority on first preference ballots.

The other two candidates – Nelson Liberal Democrat Afzal Anwar and UKIP's Robert Drobny – were eliminated after the first count.

Mr Grunshaw, who takes up his post today, will set a budget after the government announces its cash settlement for Lancashire Constabulary next month.

He will decide how much the county force adds to council tax bills to finance itself, and produce a crime and policing plan setting out his priorities.

He will also have powers to hire and fire the chief constable.

Mr Grunshaw said: "It is going to be a difficult job, but my number one priority is the safety and security of the people of Lancashire."

Lancashire Chief Constable Steve Finnigan said: "My relationship with Clive is going to be a new one. I know Clive well from his two spells on the county police authority. We will work closely together, but it will not be a cosy relationship. We have different roles."

Dentist has lots to smile about

Bank View Smile Studios, in Blackburn, was named 'Best Dental Clinic' in the country by a consumer website.

Blackburn-born dental surgeon Khalid Master took over the practice, in Preston New Road, with fellow dentist Thomas Sarpong in February 2010.

Dr Master said: "We are a developing brand and this is a real gauge of how we are doing. I've never been to something like the ceremony before. It was like a glittering TV event.

"I've lived in Blackburn all my life and when I was studying in Liverpool I knew I wanted to come home and serve the community."

More than 12,500 consumers voted on the MyFaceMyBody.com awards, ensuring the surgery beat contenders from London's famous Harley Street.

TROPHY: Khalid Master and staff members

Coun Suleman Khonat, one of Dr Master's patients, said: "It's so good for a local kid to do so well in such a short time. I'm very proud for him and his mum."

Winter squads to clear snow

By DAN CLOUGH

Residents in Blackburn and Darwen will grit their neighbourhoods, clear snow, and keep an eye out for neighbours, under a new council-led initiative.

Winter squads have been launched by Blackburn with Darwen Council, with bags of grit handed out to those taking part.

The scheme is another part of the council's Your Call, in which residents help their communities to carry out tasks that otherwise wouldn't get done because of a shortage of funds due to council cuts.

Coun Faryad Hussain, executive member for environmental improvement and sustainability, said: "About 300 people die every year from winter-related deaths, such as falls on icy surfaces.

"These winter squads allow volunteers to come together over the winter, share their community spirit, and hopefully achieve a drop in the amount of unnecessary winter deaths."

The idea came at a ward solutions meeting in the East Rural ward, which covers Hoddlesden, Eccleshill and Blacksnape, where residents asked for support to help vulnerable residents in the case of a cold snap.

Three squads were set up and the scheme was piloted in East Rural, Corporation Park, and Roe Lee wards.

This year, there will be 12 groups on hand to grit routes that would otherwise not be gritted, clear snow and ice, and look after vulnerable people in their area.

The council will provide six tonnes of grit per area, snow shovels, spades, crampons, warm high-visibility hooded jackets, and buckets.

Meanwhile, Lancashire County Council has said it has 33,500 tonnes of grit stockpiled in preparation for another 'big freeze' this winter.

The authority said the amount, the largest ever stockpiled by the authority, will enable it to go for long periods of sustained freezing weather if stocks run low at suppliers.

It dwarfs the 18,000 tonnes of four years ago, and is up from 30,000 tonnes last year.

The grit is 97per cent rock salt, with a molasses-type additive making up the remainder.

Duncan Reeve, project realm manager in Burnley, said he hoped residents and businesses would shoulder some of the responsibility for keeping the roads safe.

And 49 gritting wagons are poised to take to the streets, with a 16-strong reserve fleet providing back-up. Mr Reeve said he wanted people to use the grit in 1,800 bins across the county to make their roads safe, but urged residents not to 'misuse' the provisions. He said: "We are working with district and parish councils, emergency services and companies to promote the idea of self-help."

'Use centre, or lose it' warning

AT RISK: The centre in Lower Darwen
Below, councillor Jacqueline Slater

By DAN CLOUGH

A community centre could be forced to close if people don't help to keep it running, a councillor has warned.

Lower Darwen Community Centre, in Fore Street, is a self-funded facility used by a number of groups in the area.

But Fernhurst councillor Jacqueline Slater said there was a danger it would close if people don't use it. She said: "I fear it will close because there is nobody prepared to volunteer. It is so sad. It has been going for 15 to 20 years and a lot of the volunteers are older now."

The main use of the centre is the youth club, which is run in conjunction with the police. Coun Slater said: "The youth club started with 29 and now there are 70-odd kids using it. The police help to run it and they are absolutely brilliant.

"It makes Lower Darwen safer as the kids have an input, so it makes them respect the area.

"It helps build community relations as well, as they have initiatives like clean-ups."

Coun Slater said a number of other groups used the centre, such as Weight Watchers. She said: "I hold my ward surgeries there. There are also painting classes and fly-tying, where people learn to put flies on fishing hooks, and there is a coffee morning every Monday.

"There is a lovely computer centre, but nobody uses it. The computers just sit there idle. A job club would be a good idea, but there is nobody to run it. So there are lots of things going on, but not enough people coming in."

Anyone starting a group, or looking for a facility to use, can contact secretary Janet Simpson on 01254 602082.

Paralympic medallist first guest on 'throne'

Paralympic 100m silver medallist Graeme Ballard was the inaugural guest on a Blackburn primary school's Throne of Words.

As part of literacy development, Hawthorn School has been focusing on the importance of questioning. The 'throne' concept is that guests are invited into the chair and asked questions. Each pupil in the class must put a question to the guest, and then a supplementary question based on the answer. Chorley-based Graeme is the world record holder in the T36 class, for those with cerebral palsy.

He left the class with the message: "Work hard at all you do and it will lead to success."

John Lawson, interim head at the school, said: "Graeme was extremely popular and qualities such as courage, determination, and humility, were much in evidence."

'Turbines disrupt TV pictures' claim

By CATHERINE PYE

TV reception to homes in Baxenden is being disrupted by a nearby wind farm, according to Hyndburn's MP.

Graham Jones said he had 20 complaints within three days from people living in the rural part of the town, between Sandy Lane to the top of Baxenden.

He believes the switching on of 12 wind turbines on Oswaldtwistle Moor, by energy firm EnergieKontor UK Ltd, has caused the problem.

The firm has now appointed a local aerial company to investigate the complaints.

Mr Jones said: "The turbines have only recently been installed and switched on. The residents are telling me their screens pixelate and are unwatchable when the blades are rotating, and the severity of the problem depends on how fast the blades are going, and which direction the turbine is facing.

"The wind farm is in the direct line of Winter Hill and Baxenden, so that's why this is happening. At first I thought it might be the roll-out of the 4G mobile phone broadband network, but the council assures me there have been no mast upgrades from 3G to 4G so far.

"So I have contacted EnergieKontor and the borough council and both tell me that they are investigating.

"If they are found to be reponsible for this, then I feel they should come forward with a solution for those people affected, who have paid a licence fee."

A Hyndburn Council spokesman confirmed that, as part of planning permission for the wind farm, EnergieKontor has a duty to investigate complaints within a five kilometre radius of the site.

He said: "The company has 28 days to investigate each complaint, and then a further 10 days to issue their findings to the properties affected and to the local planning authority.

"The report shall set out whether the impairment of television reception is directly attributable to the development, and if remedial works are required to restore the quality of television reception. If remedial works are required, they shall be undertaken by EnergieKontor, at its own cost, using all reasonable endeavours and completed as soon as reasonably practicable."

A spokesman for EnergieKontor said: "We have an engineer looking into the issue but, at the moment, it's still not clear whether it's the blades causing the problem, or 4G affecting Winter Hill."

COMPLAINTS: Graham Jones MP

HOLD-UPS: The roadworks in Lottice Lane, near the Britannia pub, and, above, landlord Paul Young, who says he is losing trade

Anger as delays hit road repairs

By KATE JACKSON

Lancashire County Council has been blasted following delays to the repair of a key link road.

Lottice Lane, Oswaldtwistle, was closed on November 6 for roadworks after a drain collapsed, and was due to be opened by last Friday, but highway bosses now say work will not be completed for several more weeks.

Journeys of just a few minutes from Hyndburn towards the M65 have been taking a quarter-of-an-hour, with queues down Shadsworth Road.

Paul Young, tenant at The Britannia pub, in Haslingden Old Road, said the roadworks had caused a 40per cent downturn in customers. He said: "As soon as the road was closed we noticed a dramatic decrease in the number of customers. We still have regular customers, but the passing trade has been non-existent.

"I will be pursuing compensation from the county council for loss of trade."

Hyndburn councillor Peter Britcliffe, who has been caught up in the delays, said: "It is causing traffic chaos. It is very worrying as it is the key route that emergency services use to get to the hospital. People are getting very fed up with the situation now."

Oliver Starkey, public realm manager for the county council, said the drainage problems were 'very complex', adding: "Our investigations have revealed a number of problems both under the highway and on adjoining land, so we have to work with our partners and land owners to resolve these drainage problems.

"Because of its location, continuing poor weather conditions, and the complex nature of the drainage system, this work will take several further weeks to complete. We're sorry for the inconvenience this is causing and we're working as hard as we can to resolve these issues."

Citizen In brief

£30,000 for dog welfare

Hyndburn Council cabinet approved a £10,000 annual grant to the borough's Stray Dogs in Need charity for the next three years, to provide education, dog warden, and micro-chipping services, despite concerns from Clayton-le-Moors Independent councillor Nick Collingridge over the cost.

Parking complaints

Residents in Baxenden have complained to police about inconsiderate parking around the Victoria pub, in Manchester Road. Officers have now promised to increase foot patrols in the area and will be contacting persistent offenders.

Brass band promoted

Darwen Brass came third in the Northern Open Brass Band Championships. It was the band's final performance as a Section Four competitor, as it was promoted to Section Three after its success at the National Brass Band Championships earlier this year.

Chef's recipe for success

Monica Galetti is a sous chef at Michel Roux's London restaurant Le Gavroche, from which her expertise led to her clinching the judge's slot on MasterChef: The Professionals. She talks about the show, being one of TV's tough-talking people, and why penning her first book, Monica's Kitchen, wasn't as easy as expected.

60 SECONDS WITH ... MONICA GALETTI

THIS WILL BE YOUR FOURTH SERIES OF MASTERCHEF – DO YOU STILL LOVE IT AS MUCH NOW AS WHEN YOU STARTED? Yes, you relax into it, because you get to know the crew a lot better. It's like a family, but what is great is that every year the standard seems to get much better.

WHAT SETS IT APART FROM OTHER TV COOKERY COMPETITIONS? It's real, there's no acting; we give it to them as it is. The tests are structured around things that actually go on in the kitchen. You know, even getting them to cook for critics is a very real part of becoming a chef in your own establishment.

HOW DO YOU FEEL ABOUT BEING THE TOUGH-TALKING, STERN-FACED JUDGE? Well, it's work, and I'm here to do a job. Michel (Roux) has put me here to be as I am in his kitchen, so I'm not going to change that just because there's a camera on me. It's the reality of working in a high-end kitchen – the standards are high, you expect the best and when there is a problem, you deal with it.

DID YOU ENJOY WRITING YOUR BOOK MONICA'S KITCHEN? Parts of it, yes! It's a book, and it's recreating my recipes, which is fine, but what I found difficult was simplifying what I do for the home cook. It was never intended as a book for the professional chef because I believe that a lot of it has been done by great chefs already, and I wondered what more could I add to that.

CELEBRATING 25 Years

Still jamming

A New Year's Eve phone call was the catalyst for Bruce Foxton to rekindle a long-lost friendship with Paul Weller, the former lead singer in The Jam.

"If somebody had told me a few years ago I'd be making music with Paul again I'd have said that all sounds great, but I can't see it," said Foxton.

"When he split The Jam, for whatever reason, he didn't want to remain friends and our relationship fizzled out.

"We'd been through so much together with The Jam, but Paul didn't want to stay in touch. We didn't speak for a long time."

The reconciliation began when Foxton's late wife, Pat, fell ill with cancer, after years in remission.

A mutual friend mentioned it to Weller, who got in touch.

When Weller invited him to play three tracks at the Royal Albert Hall, marking his 50th birthday, past disagreements were buried in the past.

They have since recorded together for the first time since The Jam split in 1982.

"Playing the Albert Hall with Paul was one of the highlights of my life, and a very emotional few minutes," added Foxton.

ON TOUR: Bruce Foxton

Weller and Foxton produced some of the most powerful music of a generation, landing top 10 hits with pop-punk classics Down in the Tubestation at Midnight and Eton Rifles.

Bruce keeps those tunes alive with his band From the Jam, which will be playing the Grand in Clitheroe.

Foxton's new solo album, Back in the Room, features Paul Weller playing organ, glockenspiel and a recorder!

"They're good pop tunes," says Foxton.

"It was a very relaxing environment, a bit like when we recorded All Mod Cons, when we knew we were on to something really good.

"A lot of people have said it sounds like a continuation of what The Jam maybe would have done.

"We'll be playing some of the new songs at Clitheroe, as well as the whole of The Jam's In The City album.

"It is always a joy to play there. We'll be recording the gig for a live release, so we want plenty of noise."

■ From The Jam play at Clitheroe's Grand Theatre on Saturday, December 1. For details, call 01200 421599.

TELESALES EXECUTIVE x 8. Blackburn 18k + bonus. Our local client is currently looking for Telesales Executives to join their quickly expanding company. They are market leaders in public sector events and have offices in Manchester & London and earlier this year opened in Blackburn. Due to their huge success they are now looking to expand within the Blackburn office. Successful applicants will be winning business from Blue-Chip companies and selling sponsorships for the public sector events. You will be motivated, driven, resilient, optimistic and confident in your own ability. Previous experience of sales would be ideal, however this is not essential as training is provided for the right person. There is a massive potential for the individual who has the right attitude and desire to succeed within the company. The basic salary is £18k with an excellent uncapped commission scheme and bonuses. Public & Legal Notices

Blackburn with Darwen Borough Council

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT PLEASE READ

Blackburn with Darwen Borough Council Housing Act 2004

Designation for Selective Licensing in the Griffin Area

Notice is hereby given that on the 18th October 2012; Blackburn with Darwen Borough Council ('the Council') acting as local housing authority in exercise of its powers under Sections 80 - 82 of the Housing Act 2004 designated the Griffin Area (the 'area') of Blackburn for Selective Licensing. The designation will come into force on 18th January 2013 and remain in force for 5 years.

The designation does not require confirmation by the Secretary of State and falls within a general approval issued by the Secretary of State under section 82 of the Act, namely the Housing Act 2004: Licensing of Houses in Multiple Occupation and Selective Licensing of Other Residential Accommodation (England) General Approval 2010.

The Designated Area includes rented properties within the Mill Hill and Ewood wards and a map is provided with the designation. The designation may be inspected at the Council offices located at the Town Hall, King William Street, Blackburn, BB1 7DY during the hours of 09:00 – 16:30 Monday to Friday. Alternatively the designation can be viewed on the Councils website at www.blackburn.gov.uk/selective-licensing

From 18th January 2013, unless a notification in relation to a temporary exemption or an application for a licence is effective, any person, who, without reasonable excuse, has control of or manages a house in the Area which is required to be licensed but is not will be guilty of an offence and liable upon conviction to a fine not exceeding £20,000.

Additionally, application may be made for a rent repayment order requiring the repayment of rent or housing benefit and no Notice under section 21 of the Housing Act 1988 (recovery of possession on termination of a shorthold tenancy) may be given in relation to the whole of or part of the unlicensed house.

Landlords, persons managing houses or tenants requiring further information or advice regarding this designation, or wishing to apply for a licence should contact the Council's Housing Standards Team by telephone on 01254 585457, by email: neighbourhood.services@blackburn.gov.uk or in writing to Housing Standards, N Floor, Town Hall, Blackburn, BB1 7DY.

Note applications will be available from 1st November 2012.
